The Goppier Queen Store.

A Foreword on Millinery

First and foremost—Laces. There are other trimmings used, of course—foliage and flowers, ribbons and pearls, mousselines and chiffons—but in nearly every case, with lace.

Irish crochet loose and the square mesh filet lace are the kinds most used; white or Arabian, or ecru, the colors.

Foliage—just foliage, without flowers—is used very freely. A very stylish and striking hat is of all black materials, with the exception of a spray of green foliage.

The time of 1776 has furnished an inspiration—Colonial Shapes. It's the three cornered hat—the brim touching the crown in three places. There'll be plenty of these, but the shape is not so noticeable as you'd suppose. The three cornered effect is all but lost amid the trimming.

The French Dip is another new fashion kink. The trimming, sometimes the hat itself, dips slightly at the back, extending down over the coiffure.

If any one color is better than another it is black, or black with white. A handsome combination is that of maize and black. All colors, though, are good.

Announcement of the date of our millinery opening will be made later.

We are quite sure the Opening will be the most interesting of any we've yet had.

Daniel's Confession Written to President

Washington, Feb. 14.—Ben F. Daniels, who was appointed by the president to the position of United States marshal for the territory of Arizona several weeks ago, has confessed to the president in a letter which was received at the White House today, to his jail record in Wyoming and also to the charge of dealing faro in a gambling house at Cripple Creek, Colorado, and later at Nogales, Arizona. In the letter Daniels makes a clean breast of the whole affair and in conclusion says he will abide by the president's decision.

The letter goes on to recite the circumstances surrounding the conviction and is a type written document of several pages. Senator Teller, who has led the fight against Daniels, says he does not intend to give up and is of the firm belief that the appointment will be recalled.

DOUBLE HANGING.

Oxford, Mississippi, The Scene Of Two Executions.

Oxford, Miss., Feb. 14.—Since early morning crowds have been coming into town to witness the hanging of Will Mathis and Orlando Lester, two of the Montgomery murderers, which takes place shortly after noon today. The authorities made arrangements for a public execution on the outskirts of town and the tragedy was witnessed by not less than 10,000 people. It was to have been a triple execution, but the appeal made to the supreme court by Whit Owens saved him from the gallows for the time being.

The crime for which Mathis and Lester pay the death penalty was one of the most terrible ever committed in Lafayette county. On the afternoon of November 16, 1901, Hugh Montgomery, United States deputy marshal, and John A. Montgomery, special deputy left this place with a warrant for Will Mathis on a charge of circulating counterfeit money. The officers arrived at Mathis' house a little before sundown and found Mathis and Orlando Lester, a negro, engaged in killing hogs. As it was late Mathis persuaded the officers to remain over night with him and said he would return to Oxford with them in the morning. The following morning Mathis' house was discovered on fire and when the neighbors investigated they found two charred and blackened trunks in the ruins. The negro, Lester, Whit Owens, Mathis' father-in-law; George Jackson and Mrs. Mathis were placed under arrest and brought to Oxford. With the aid of bloodhounds a posse trailed Mathis to the home of Bill Jackson, a friend, and after further search through the swamps their man was finally located and captured. The succeeding trial attracted the attention of the entire state. Lester made a confession implicating all of those under arrest excepting Mrs. Mathis. The trial resulted in Lester, Owens and Mathis being sentenced to death, while Bill Jackson was given a life sentence and his brother, George Jackson, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for aiding Mathis in his escape.

Inauguration Day Will Change.

Washington, Feb. 14.—There is a strong probability that the date of inauguration day will be changed from the blizzard day of March to the last Thursday in April. A joint resolution providing that future presidents shall be inaugurated in April instead of March and changing the meeting days of congress to correspond is now on the senate calendar, and the talk among senators is that it will pass. There is no valid objection to it, and every sort of argument is in its favor. The resolution was reported by Senator Hoar as chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, and has his earnest support, as well as that of every other leading senator.

To Go to Sea in His Airship.

Monaco, Feb. 14.—Santos-Dumont today made his third trip over the bay. Splendid weather prevailed. The aeronaut made evolutions with complete success for thirty minutes and returned to his starting place amid the plaudits of the great crowd assembled. Late this afternoon a fourth trial was made and the airship collapsed while sailing over the sea and sunk, but Dumont was saved by a yacht.

RAILROAD FOR GLEESON.

Pearce Also to Be Connected— Likewise Tombstone.

The El Paso and Southwestern railroad is to be connected with Gleeson and Pearce by a branch line that will leave the main line at or near College Peak, a station between Douglas and Deming and about twenty-eight miles from the first mentioned point. From Gleeson the road will be extended to Pearce and from some point on this branch a connecting link will be made through Tombstone either at Charleston or Fairbank.

The REVIEW is informed that work has already been commenced.

With Pearce, Gleeson and Tombstone connected by rail, and with Bisbee, Cananea and Nacozari as feeders, together with Clifton and Morenci, the E. P. & S. W. is in a fair way to do considerable hauling in the southwest. Work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible on the proposed route.

The Phoenix papers state that work on the Phoenix and Benson road will be commenced in a few days and with this connection at Benson Southern Arizona can boast of two transcontinental lines.

DESERTERS HANGED

Americans who Joined the Filipino Insurgents Pay the Penalty.

Manila, Feb. 14.—Edmond A. Dubose and Lewis Russell, deserters from Company E, Ninth Cavalry, and who stole arms belonging to the regiment and joined the insurgents in August last, for which they were tried and sentenced by a military commission, were hanged February 7 at Culobatan, province of Albay, in the presence of 3,000 people.

The execution was supervised by Captain Harry H. Wright, of the Ninth Cavalry, commanding the post. Several native petitions were received urging clemency, but the authorities failed to see any reason to delay the execution, the men's crime constituting a flagrant breach of the military code in time of war.

Mule Eared Joe

A citizen of El Paso, recently of Globe, Ariz., who desires that his name not be printed—stated to The El Paso News yesterday that he knew the past career of the robber who so boldly touched the gambling house Saturday night in the Pass City.

"Up at Globe, Arizona, 'Mule-Eared Joe,' as he was called there, for hardly anybody knew him by any other name, was a habitual thief. He swiped anything that came within his reach.

"I saw him in El Paso the other day and he was with his sweetheart, whom, I think, he took away with him. "I saw the fac-simile of his letter printed in the News yesterday, and immediately recognized the handwriting, for Joe worked for me at Globe until he was fired for pilfering. I do not believe that he is in Mexico, but, with the woman, has gone to Globe."

Freight Trains Collide.

Altoona, Pa., Feb. 14.—Two Pennsylvania freights collided this morning near Altoona. Conductor Grove, brakemen Westner and Coney were killed and six injured. The east-bound train had gotten beyond control on a heavy grade at the approach to a horse-shoe curve and crashed into the other train.

Earthquake in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 14.—Schemnka, a town in Transcaucasia, was destroyed by an earthquake this morning. The town had twenty thousand inhabitants. Hundreds, it is believed, perished.

HARLOW VS. EGAN

Preliminaries That Led up to the Challenge to a Duel

A few days ago the REVIEW published a special dispatch from Guaymas to the effect that Col. W. P. Harlow, had challenged General Egan, of embalmers' beef fame, to fight a duel to death on American soil.

The Tucson Post now comes with the particulars as follows: "Word has come to Tucson direct from Guaymas of a misunderstanding between two gentlemen, one of them of national prominence, and which almost ended in a duel. One was General Charles P. Egan, who rode into fame on embalmers' beef. The other combatant was Colonel Willis P. Harlow, of Nogales, who is not only a military gentleman but also something of a joker.

"General Egan has for some time been engaged in a controversy with W. C. Green over some coal lands in southern Sonora. The general has spent most of his time in the vicinity of the disputed land for months. He was stopping at the leading American hotel in Guaymas when Colonel Harlow became a guest. The gentlemen were introduced to each other and the conversation started off in the most amicable manner and perhaps would have continued so to the end if Colonel Harlow had not begun to talk shop.

"Said he: 'General, I am representing Mr. Greene in this fight over that coal land, and I'm going to see that you get off of it and stay off.' Those who are familiar with the proceedings in the embalmers' beef inquiry know that General Egan is a man not given to jocularity; his infirmity of temper is chronic. As soon as he learned that he was talking to an attorney of Mr. Greene he felt toward him just as he would have felt toward General Miles if he had happened to meet him. He began to use language toward Col. Harlow, and the colonel handed it back to the general. The general's face took on a deeper carmine and his white mustache stood out straight in front. The things he said to Colonel Harlow made the things he said to General Miles at the embalmers' beef hearing seem to be calm, and what Colonel Harlow said to General Egan would have led to a court martial if the general had not been on the retired list. Still he was no match in invective for the general, and he was compelled to withdraw to his room defeated and humiliated. He wrote a challenge to the general, and after the latter had gone to bed he put it into the hands of a porter with instructions to deliver it not earlier than 9 o'clock the next morning. The invitation to mortal combat was concluded as follows: 'I am aware that as the challenged party you have the choice of weapons to be used in this encounter. I would suggest to you, though, that you choose your deadliest weapon—embalmers' beef.'

Colonel Harlow took the first stage out of town long before the challenge was put into the hands of his enemy.

Ready for D. A. R. Meeting

Washington, Feb. 14.—Advices received by local arrangements committees indicate that the Continental Congress of the Daughters of the Revolution, to be held in this city during the coming week, will be the largest and most representative gathering in the history of the society. Delegates representing the 35,000 members of the organization will be present from every state and territory in the Union. The congress will be called to order Monday morning by the president-general, Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana. The reception, which has usually been held at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, will take place this year at the National Museum, the first evening of the congress.

Ore Dock to Be the Largest.

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 14.—The Eastern Minnesota-Great Northern interests are arranging to increase the length of their new ore dock on Alouette bay, Superior, 6,000 feet, adding 100 piers, representing 30,000 gross tons, and giving the entire dock a storage capacity of 100,000 gross tons. This will make the dock the largest ore shipping structure in the world. It is also the highest, being seventy-two feet from the water to the top of the rails. It is expected that the addition will be ready for receiving and shipping ore by June 1.

Double Tragedy.

Orange, N. J., Feb. 14.—In a quarrel last night with his wife over the company his daughter, Mrs. Ferguson, was keeping with a policeman, Crella fatally shot his daughter Mary. Mrs. Crella dropped dead from fright, then Crella attempted suicide by shooting himself in the breast with a revolver.

Ransom Money Paid

Constantinople, Feb. 14.—The ransom of sixty-two thousand dollars in gold has been paid to the brigands and the captives released.

CHAPTER FOUR.

Judge Brown Reverses Judge Williams and Harry Wales Is Held for Grand Jury.

At 3 p. m. yesterday Judge Brown rendered his decision in the case of the Territory vs. Harry Wales, charged with grand larceny, to-wit, the taking of money from one Peter Matson on the morning of February 6.

The decision verbatim is as follows: "It appearing to the court that the crime of grand larceny has been committed within the town of Bisbee, Arizona, on or about February 6, 1902, by feloniously taking and stealing from the person and possession of Peter Matson at least $100 currency of the United States, and that there is sufficient cause to believe Harry Wales guilty thereof, I order that he be held to answer to the same and that he be admitted to bail in the sum of $300, and be committed to the sheriff of Cochise county until he give such bail."

The case has occupied the attention of the two justice courts in Bisbee the better part of the week, and on virtually the same testimony we have a divergence of opinion by the learned judges of both courts.

The case will now go to the grand jury and on that body devolves the duty of saying whether Defendant Wales must be tried by a jury of his peers.

Elucidating all circumstances that do not have a direct bearing on the case the facts as brought out at the hearing are as follows:

Peter Matson arrives in Bisbee from Naco on the evening of the 5th. He commenced drinking and gambling and during the early hours of the morning of the 6th, Matson meets Wales in the Turf saloon. The two proceed to have a good time, drinking and gambling together. They both bet the same chips and carry on a friendly competition. Wales says they were "in" on the money won. Matson says to the contrary. The faro bank dealers say it appeared to them that the two players were "in and in." The chips are cashed. Matson allows the defendant to roll up his money for him, which he placed in his pocket book. The two departed from the saloon by the rear door, walked down by the railroad track to the corner of the library building, turned and came up to the Johnson block when the defendant left the complaining witness, who was shown to his room by the landlady.

Upon undressing the complaining witness discovered his pocket book was gone. He rolled into bed and sometime during the afternoon awoke and going to the office of Justice Brown swore out a warrant for the arrest of the defendant.

Upon leaving the complaining witness the defendant went to Naco on the stage and returned to Bisbee in the afternoon. Here he heard that a warrant had been sworn out for his arrest. In the evening he walked to Don Luis where he says he intended to catch the morning train. The reason he gave for leaving town was that he had been told Johnson was a bad man and he was afraid of him, and by promises or threats as the case may be prevailed upon the defendant to produce $100.00 which he hid from beneath a railroad tie, where the defendant says he placed the money for fear of being robbed by hobos.

The officers started for Bisbee with the prisoner, who they say escaped from them. The defendant says the officers turned him loose and this testimony is supported by a man named Moore, who was at Don Luis when the arrest was made.

Wales went to Naco and told his story to the Rangers. They turned him over to Judge Williams who heard the testimony and ordered the defendant discharged.

He was re-arrested and taken before Judge Brown and held to the grand jury. In rendering his decision yesterday Judge Brown also ordered that $100.00 then in the possession of the court be returned to the complaining witness. L. J. Overlock and S. K. Williams are bondsmen for Wales and he was released from custody.

Stole $10,000

New York, Feb. 14.—It appears that Daniel Donovan, coachman of Helen Gould, robbed her of ten thousand worth of goods. He so confessed in court today.

GENERAL LEE TALKS.

Entertains an Audience at the Auditorium on Peace and War.

Washington, Feb. 14.—General Fitzhugh Lee entertained an audience of 5,000 people at the Auditorium last night with a speech in which humor, pathos and flowery diction were delightfully mingled. His subject was "Peace and war in the United States and Cuba," and around this topic he wove many pretty historical sketches and war reminiscences.

He appeared under the auspices of the Cook county cabinet of the National Union, a benevolent patriotic order. He was presented to the audience by M. G. Jeffers of Jacksonville and received an ovation that lasted fully two minutes. The stage was occupied by the officers of the second regiment, National Guard, who served under General Lee in Cuba.

General Lee spoke nearly two hours. He sketched the early history of the country, told stories of the Mexican and civil wars and described the struggles of the Cubans for independence. He related many anecdotes of his own experiences in Cuba during his service there as a consul general and paid a high tribute to the courage and patriotism of the Cubans.

THE SOUTH BISBEE.

Stockholders Hold Another Meeting and Adjourn to Another Date.

Pursuant to adjournment the stockholders of the South Bisbee company met yesterday and were called to order by Peter Johnson. No business was transacted of an official character, but the condition of the company and the prospects for the future were discussed in an informal way.

The meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. It is understood that the directors of the Calumet and Arizona company or the Calumet and Pittsburgh company will hold a meeting in Calumet, Michigan, the latter part of this month when the question of an offer for the South Bisbee property will come up for consideration.

The stockholders in the South Bisbee company seem to be well satisfied with the present state of affairs.

Sensational Scene in the House

Washington, Feb. 14.—In the house today Representative Wheeler, democrat, of Kentucky, gained unanimous consent to speak for fifteen minutes on the subject of England's alleged attitude of antagonism previous to the war with Spain.

He demanded the retirement of Secretary Hay, the man responsible, he said, for the Republic abandoning her time honored ideals and isolation from the political wrangles of Europe. "If newspaper stories are true," he continued, "Pauwelsforte should be compelled to take the first ship home."

The speech created a stir in the House and was the sensation of the day. The representative from Kentucky was very vehement in his admonition of Secretary Hay.

An Amusing Incident.

An amusing incident occurred in one of the Washington schools for colored children a few days ago. Three little colored boys and girls were in attendance from one family, and they were not as cleanly and as sweet as the principal of the school thought they should be. So he sent word to the mother of the trio that it might not be a bad idea if the children were given a bath now and then.

The indignant mother, who evidently had her own notions as to the best way of getting children through a cold and stormy winter, sent back this unique reply:

"I sewed them kids up for the winter last fall, and I don't propose to undo 'em till next spring for nobody."

Booker Washington Invited

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 14.—The graduating class of the University of Nebraska is split wide open over the selection of the Negro, Booker T. Washington, to be the commencement orator at the graduating exercises to be held in May next.

The class met today for the purpose of making the selection and both factions were at times very cutting in their remarks. Booker T. Washington was finally chosen as the commencement orator after a hot fight.

Master Roosevelt Will Survive.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 14.—Young Roosevelt continues to improve. He was bright and cheerful this afternoon. Miss Roosevelt arrives tomorrow and will remain with her mother here until the patient may be removed to Washington, probably within a week.
